2014 and 2015 Scholarship Recipient
Marketing and Communications Strategist, Foothill Transit,
West Covina, CA

"This scholarship has been very impactful on my career. Beyond the financial assistance, the award provided a unique opportunity to meet and learn from influential industry professionals at the APTA Annual Conference. I met with transit leaders and professionals who shared their knowledge, experience, ideas, and advice. The APTF Scholarship program continues to help the next generation of transit professionals and I am very thankful and honored to represent the APTF!"

Yanshuo Sun

"The valuable financial support from the APTF enables my research on the economic impacts of public transit. With the APTF scholarship, I can focus on the public transit service optimizations under regulation and subsidization. This work has been presented at the Transportation Research Board (TRB) annual meeting and published in the peer refereed journal Transportation Research Record. The scholarship confirms my choice and assists me in achieving my career goals in the public transit industry. Thank you, APTF!"

Emily Bergkamp

2015 APTF Scholarship Recipient
Executive Masters in Public Administration,
University of Washington
Dial-A-Lift Manager, Intercity Transit, Olympia, WA

"Being selected as an APTF Scholar demonstrates the foundation's support of my professional development as a future transit leader. By providing financial assistance towards the completion of my graduate degree, APTF sends a clear message that I am an asset to the field of public transportation, deserving of investment. This humbles and inspires me to be my best. I am dedicated to providing a return on investment to the public transportation industry and the people we serve."
